The screenshot shows the ANZ website's 'ANZ Variable Rate Personal Loan' page. The header includes the ANZ logo, navigation links for Personal, Business, and Corporate, a search bar, and a 'Log on' button. Below the header, there's a breadcrumb trail: 'Personal > Personal loans > Variable rate loan'. The main heading is 'ANZ Variable Rate Personal Loan', followed by the subtext 'Get the flexibility to make extra repayments'. There are two buttons: 'Apply now >' and 'Interest rates & fees'. Below this is a 'Track my application' link. A paragraph states: 'Whether you're looking to buy a new car, renovate your home or you want to consolidate debt, we could help you with an ANZ Variable Rate Personal Loan.' To the right is an image of a person sitting on a sofa in a living room. At the bottom, there's a 'Loan features' section with two columns. The first column has a dollar sign icon and the text: 'Pay off your loan early with no exit fees. You can make extra repayments whenever you like to reduce your loan term and interest you pay, helping you to pay it off earlier.' The second column has an upward arrow icon and the text: 'Flexibility to increase your loan amount. If you need a bit extra, you could apply to increase your loan if your plans get bigger. If approved, you'll continue to have one loan amount and one repayment schedule.' There are also links for 'Loan features', 'Rates and fees', 'Calculators', 'Eligibility', and 'How to apply' at the bottom left, and an 'Apply now' button at the bottom right.
